Headline:
Cold with showers on Wednesday, drier in the afternoon.

Today:
Showers or longer spells of rain at first, some snow on hills. Turning drier from mid-morning. Somewhat brighter in the afternoon, but still a few showers in the east, turning wintry to low levels at times. Cold northerly winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Some rain, sleet and snow this evening. Frequent often heavy showers spread south in the early hours, bringing snow away from the north coast and a risk of ice. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Thursday:
Some wintry showers at first in the east, giving a risk of icy stretches. Otherwise dry with sunny spells. Clouding over through the afternoon. Rain and snow in the evening. Maximum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mainly dry Friday, bright or sunny spells, especially in the east. Unsettled over the weekend and rather cold with rain at times.
